Irish Astronomy.

A veritable myth, touching the Constellation of O'Ryan, ignorantly and falsely spelled Orion.]

O'Ryan was a man of might Whin Ireland was a nation, But poachin' was his heart's delight And constant occupation ;

He had on ould militia gun, And sartin sure his aim was ; He gave the keepers many a run, And wouldn't mind the game laws. St. Patrick wanst was passin' by O'Rvan's little bouldin'

And as the saint felt wake and dhry. He thought he'd enther bould in. "O'Ryan," says the saint, "avick ! To praich at Thurles I'm goin', So let me have a rasher quick, And a throb of Innishowen."

"No, rather will I cook for you While better is to spare, sir, But here's a gug of mountain dew And there's a rattlin' hare, sir;" St. Patrick he looked mighty sweet.

And says he. "Good luck attind you! And when you're in your windin' sheet, It's up to heaven I'll send you." O'Ryan gave his pipe a whift-

"Them tidin's is thransportin; But may I as your saintship if There's any kind of sportin'?" St. Patrick said, "A Lion's there, Two Bears, a bull, and Cancer"-

"Bedad," says Mick, "the huntin's rare;

St. Patrick, I'm your man, sir." So, to conclude my song aright, For fear I'd tire your nationee You'll see O'Ryan any night Amid the Constellations. And Venus follows in his track
